

Kerr crabapples are medium-small to medium-sized, typically measuring about 1.75 to 2 inches (4.5 to 5 cm) in diameter, with some sources noting they can reach up to 2 inches. They are oblong, dark red to deep purple, and known for being firm, juicy, and having a sweet-tart flavor, making them excellent for fresh eating, cider, and cooking. ↗

Key Characteristics:

- Size: Around 1.75 to 2 inches in diameter (4.5-5 cm).
- Shape: Oblong, sometimes described as oblong-oblate.
- Color: Deep, dark crimson to purple-red skin with yellowish flesh.
- Flavor: Crisp, juicy, sweet-tart, with a rose-like aroma.
- Uses: Excellent for snacks, jelly, canning, baking, and attracting wildlife.
- Origin: A cross between the Dolgo and Haralson apples, developed in Canada.